

Andrea Volf

VK Sustainable Concepts, Schaumburg

Andrea Volf is someone who employs a green philosophy in her life. Volf, owner of VK Sustainable Concepts of Schaumburg, is an interior designer with an eye toward creating sustainable home environments without damaging exterior environments.

Born in Brazil, Volf came to the United States to learn graphic design, first in Florida, then in New York City. In 2003 she attended the Illinois Institute of Art, and now she is a leading interior designer with influences in both American and Hispanic cultures. Volf is an active member of the U.S. Green Building Council, and extends her sustainable theories through social, environmental and economic standpoints.

VK Sustainable Concepts

STRENGTHENING COMMUNITIES WITH SUSTAINABLE SOLUTIONS.

WOMEN: Many thanked 'trailblazers'

Continued from Page 16

Beck said to define what you want, you have to answer three questions: What is my mission, can I embrace this stage of my life, and what does life ask of me at this moment. Those answers, she said, will help focus your "work/life integration" and "shift your thinking above some of the fray."

Many of the honorees noted they

Free Holiday Ornament

FOR THE MONTH OF DECEMBER***

*See below for details.

